So why are you still contacting me? It's makes no sense. I'm going to now do it your way and say nothing. Push me right out of your life by saying nothing. Interesting strategy but it will backfire. All you're doing is creating so much more pain and that's the way you like it. Your dead pathetic drug addict wife gave you so much drama. And now you need to create as much pain as possible for others because you're nothing.
